

Silk Flower Pony O's and Preparing your Silk Flowers

Take apart your flower. You will not be needing any of the plastic pieces that hold the flower together like the underside of the flower. Just keep the flower center if you like it.

Time to put your flower back together. Layer by layer start with your largest flower, glue or hot melt glue it and add on the next biggest flower and so on and so on...Continue until it is time for your last flower or the center of the flower.

Now for your last flower fold it in quarters or thirds and glue it slightly together then you want to glue it to the center of your flower. You are folding it gently into quarters or thirds because you want your center to have some dimension and not just be flat so it looks like the center of the flower is missing.

There you go! You did it! :)

Now take a piece of matching ribbon and a pony o'. Put the pony o' on the back of the flower and hot melt glue the ribbon over the pony o'.
