

Wiring your Clippie to your Hair Bow

Rather than wire my clippie like others do. This is how I like to secure my bows to my clippies. It keeps them very secure, not once but twice. It also looks nice and finished. I am using a baby blue lined clippie so that you will be able to see nice and clearly what I am doing.

Line your clippie, do not finish it off, leave the end piece of your ribbon unglued like so..

Take your wired bow with the wire hanging. Take a piece of the wire and pull it in between the clippie.

Start wrapping the wire around the back side of the clippie like so..

Keep on wrapping..

After you wrap it tightly around your clippie. Finish it off by tucking the end piece of the wire and pull it through to secure it.

Glue the back side of the clippie.

Press the glued end of the clippie to the bow.

Glue the remainder of the ribbon.

Open up your clippie and fold over that piece of the ribbon.

Cut a small piece of ribbon and glue one side.

Press it on top of the back side of the clippie and the bow.

All done. Nice and secure!
